Sweet Almond oil

Sweet Almond oil: This oil is self preserving, does not vary in smell with time and is a very powerful skin moisturizer. This nut is antioxidant rich, high in vitamin A, B & E, healthy fat and protein content along with containing many essential nutrients. The oil helps maintaining moisture levels of the skin and gets absorbed faster than many other oils, without blocking the pores. Overall, almond oil for skin care helps:

- Improve the complexion and retaining glow
- Moisturize better and deeper
- Soothe skin irritation and skin inflammation
- Nourish skin, making it softer and smoother
- Cures chapped lips, elbows, hands and body rashes.
- When doing a massage with warm almond oil, the constant rubbing will increase the nourishing effect. Final result will be a brighter, softer and clearer skin.

Coconut oil

Coconut oil: Coconut oil is a self preserving oil that allows for the skin to repair fast and feel soft and nourished, great for foreplay when the night is going to end in Grey inspired punishment games. Coconut oil improves the lipid content of the skin, this means that natural moisture will also improve and that skin will be more resistant to all type of exposures. The high content of Capric / Caprylic and Lauric Acids in Coconut oil are also highly recommendable for massage candles, mainly they have an antibacterial effect to the skin, protecting from infections, making the skin more resistant. Finally Coconut oil makes dry skin more elastic, softer and nicer to the touch, this will occur both on the skin that is massaged as on the hands of who applies the massage.

Shea butter
